Graduate Student

October 2019 - June 2020 (9 months)

São Paulo, Brazilië

For my MSc thesis, I researched the use of the public bike-sharing systems in São Paulo and Rio de Janeiro. I examined the (in)equity in user access to both systems and developed a model to predict the average daily departures per station using various independent variables.

I went to Curitiba, Brazil, to conduct my Bachelor's thesis research. I mapped the quality of the city's bicycle paths and analyzed who had access to them. Most of the research was carried out at SETRAN (the Municipal Secretariat of Transit) and UTFPR (the Federal University of Technology – Paraná).
